

WE NOMINATE

Lawrance Roger Thompson, one of the front-rank authorities in the field of American literature and a Princetonian of 15 years' standing, whose newly published "Melville's Quarrel with God" has touched off a chain reaction of yelps and vipes on the part of many teachers and scholars. While the celebrated author of "Moby Dick" has seldom appealed to the casual reader, Melville's interpreters and discoverers have been legion and to them it is distressing—just a century after "Moby Dick" appeared—to have long-held beliefs and convictions challenged and then harpooned.

Described by an associate as "probably the most original and controversial" study of Melville ever issued, and learnedly disputed by an apparently upset New York Times reviewer, Thompson's newest work, a 475-page volume published by the Princeton University Press, currently rates among the fast sellers in this community, long a hotbed of "Melville-ism." A group of coffee-drinkers in a Nassau Street eatery recently adjourned on a discordant note, following a discussion of Thompson's thesis, and across the street in the Firestone Library some were preparing to quarrel with Thompson's "Quarrel with Melville."

Thompson, a 46-year old native of New Hampshire and a post-war Guggenheim Fellow, has long made a practice of turning out distinguished but thoroughly readable books. In 1938, a decade after he was graduated from Wesleyan and the year he received his Columbia doctorate, he "scored" with his "Young Longfellow," the biography which gained recognition as the first realistic account of the New England poet's formative years. Incidentally, in carrying forward his research for this study, he unearthed evidence of Longfellow's first appearance in book form by using ultra-violet light to prove that a poem, passed over in an 1824 prize competition, had come from Longfellow's pen.

Appointed to the Princeton Faculty in 1937, succeeding the recently deceased George Mann Peck as Curator of the Library's Special Collections, Thompson rose to an assistant professorship before departing for a 51-month tour of duty with the Navy. His analysis of Robert Frost appeared in 1942 and during his service with the Eastern Sea Frontier, he came up with one of the war's most absorbing narratives, a documented account of how the ill-fated yawl Zaida, on submarine picket patrol off Martha's Vineyard, survived a hurricane and finally limped into Ocracoke Inlet, hundreds of miles to the South, near Cape Hatteras.

For not hesitating to challenge conventional interpretations of American literary phenomena; for blending scholarship and convincing literary craftsmanship; for enhancing the literary traditions of which the Princeton Community is so rightfully proud; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for Election Results. Political interpretation allowing the freedom of thought that it does, both Taft and Eisenhower forces followed Tuesday's primary election with claims of clear-cut victories. The edge actually appeared to go to the Ikemen, for not only did their candidate win by a clear majority in the popular vote and carry off all but a half-dozen of the state's 38 delegates, but there could be no denying that despite Senator Taft's refusal to come into New Jersey, his followers had waged full-scale campaign to urge his nomination.

Here in Princeton, the Eisenhower margin of better than 4 to 1 was as much and more than his backers had sought. He polled 2,465 votes to 587 for the Ohio senator. On the Democratic ballot, Senator Kefauver received 282, with the real surprise coming in the fact that Governor Stevenson of Illinois drew more Democratic write-in votes (91) than the 55 Harold Stassen could muster as a campaigning Republican.

Senator H. Alexander Smith had no difficulty running up a large majority over the Rutherford attorney, Carl Ring. His margin here was better than 20 to 1 (2,437 to 132.)

Voting was unusually heavy despite the day-long drizzle, especially in the closing hours. Write-in votes caused seemingly endless delay, with election judges having difficulty explaining the somewhat complicated procedure to those who wished to support candidates not on the ballot.

At closing-time, long lines of voters stood before the machines in many of the town's 12 districts, and in Princeton township, three of the four booths were still in operation an hour and 40 minutes after the polls had closed. Some 60 percent of the town's registered voters turned out, unusually high for a primary election.

In the borough, Democratic candidates John H. Golden and Dr. J. Kendall Wallis, received more than a score of write-in votes and are expected to qualify for a place on the November ballot. They will oppose Professors J. Dayton Voorhees and Alfred E. Sorenson.

Relegating interest in the presidential preference voting to a secondary place in the township was the contest between incumbent John H. Wallace, Jr. and Charles Weigel for the Republican choice for township committeeman. Mr. Wallace won, 890 to 291, underscoring the rift that has developed between him and Bertrand L. Gulick, Jr., committeeman who campaigned actively for Mr. Weigel.

On Again, Off Again. Princetonians awoke Tuesday morning to find their telephone service back to normal. Operators had voted to accept an average pay increase of $1 weekly and to renew their contract without the closed shop clause which the union had been demanding. But Wednesday, striking Western Electric employees set up a picket line and the operators went out again for an indefinite period.

The public was showing unusual cooperation, punctuated on occasion by a sense of humor or just plain brass. An outstanding example of the latter characteristic—Continued on Page 3 was demonstrated by one man who put through what he said was an emergency call from a phone booth, failed to pay the full toll, after engaging for nearly half an hour in baby talk with his sweetheart.

One woman got permission to make a legitimate emergency call, asked for Easton, Maryland, only to hear a harassed male voice say, "Holy Moses, lady, I don't think I can get you that far!"

Another operator who was in his 14th hour of duty at the switchboard was told by a woman: "This is an emergency call. I've just got to order a case of beer for tomorrow." Silence was followed by amused laughter from both caller and operator, and the call went through.

None too happy over one tie-up, however, was a busy Princetonian who returned to his desk one morning to find a message asking him to call an operator in New York. Feeling that it must be a matter of considerable importance if the message had come through during the strike, he spent an hour and a half trying to reach New York.

The balance of the morning had been shattered into small pieces by the time he had made connections, only to find that the call was placed by labor union magazine trying to solicit advertising from him.

Festival Date Nears. Music and dancing planned with a popular appeal will feature the Y.W.C.A.'s International Festival next Saturday night, April 26, in Princeton High School. Climaxing the program will be three choruses from Mendelssohn's oratorio "Elijah," sung by the Westminster Symphony Choir which was directed for its Carnegie Hall performances of this work by Dmitri Mitropoulos, conductor of the Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra.

Others who will appear include Frances Bartley, dramatic soprano; James Lee Pitts, contralto; Antoinette Gohlke, ballerina, and her husband, Robert Dixon, tenor. Another feature of the program will be a Maypole dance in which representatives of lands from all over the world will take part, dressed in colorful costumes.

The popular Food Mart, at which foreign delicacies from many countries will be sold, is to be part of the festival again, while a Treasure Chest will be an added attraction. Unusual articles of a wide variety will be on sale.

Children under 14 will be admitted for half price, a move made to encourage their attendance since the festival is largely educational in nature. Tickets may be bought at either Y.W.C.A. center, 202 Nassau or 4 Green Street.

Well-Known Figures Here. Two nationally-known figures are scheduled to speak here in the next three days. Senator H. Alexander Smith will be heard Saturday night at 8:15 in the Methodist Church —Continued on Page 5

It's New to Us

By a Master Engraver. Through The Town Shop, 12 Nassau, you may now order invitations, stationery—anything you like in the way of engraved social papers, to be done by the famous firm of Downes, engravers and stationers, of Baltimore.

For 120 years, Downes of Baltimore has been filling orders for wedding invitations, christening announcements, birth announcements and fine stationery. The Town Shop has samples of all these. You'll find engravings for every social occasion, even tiny visiting cards for young men scarcely out of the birth announcement category. There are cards for little girls, too, and for the older prep school crowd; birth announcements designed like miniature wedding invitations, business cards, all on the finest of papers, magnificently engraved.

You may select the type-face you wish from a large sample card. If you have your own die, you may use that.

Perhaps there are only a few occasions in your life that require engraved announcements, but there are certainly many occasions that call for fine stationery. The Town Shop will take your order for Downes' engraved stationery in a wide variety of muted shades, bordered or plain.

Soft greys and blues, white with red, or "Greyhound", a paper with fine, almost microscopic lines across the width. These are folded, but you may have any style in single sheets if you wish.

At the top, your monogram can be done in colors or in white, in whatever style you choose. A whole name, if you like, or a crest.

Informals are always useful. Downes makes these of the same Crane paper as the rest, and in the same range of pastel shades. Or you may have the "formal" informals, with your full, engraved name.

The Town Shop tells us that stationery can be ready about two or three weeks from the time it's ordered. To appreciate this remarkably fine engraving you really ought to look at samples of it. Why not stop by The Town Shop and ask to see Downes' book?

"Just Like a Duck's Back." No home owner is ever really free from worry about what water is going to do to his house. It's a particular problem in Princeton, so it's fitting that a Princeton company should come up with a solution, if you'll pardon the double entendre.

This solution is Silicone Masonry Water Repellent, formulated with silicone from the Dow Chemical Company, with certain solvents added. It's been developed by Princeton Paint Laboratories and manufactured by Princeton Technical Products Company. You can buy it at the Nassau Paint Store, 126 Nassau.

On the container it says, "Just Like a Duck's Back", and nothing could be more descriptive. You flood the liquid on with brush, or spray it on with an ordinary garden spray (not high-pressure spray guns, because they cause too much evaporation). It will penetrate the surface and make it completely water-repellent. We emphasize that it doesn't seal with a surface film. It leaves the masonry pores open to "breathe".

We saw samples of cinder block, stucco and asbestos siding, half treated with the water repellent and half untreated. The treated half was, literally, like a duck's — Continued on Page 11 social hall. Appearing under the sponsorship of the Methodist Men's Club, of which Paul E. Asenbrenner is president, he will discuss foreign affairs and report on his trip in the Far East. The meeting is open to the public.

The Rev. Dr. Harrison R. Anderson, Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., will give an address Tuesday night in Miller Chapel on the Princeton Theological Seminary campus. He will be heard at 7:45.

Rotary Picks Miller. Robert C. Miller has been elected president of the Princeton Rotary Club for the next 12 months, succeeding George W. Conover. Frederick J. Worthington and Maurice A. Mather were named first and second vice-presidents.

Expressions of appreciation for several years of valuable service to the club were made at Tuesday's meeting on behalf of J. Edwin Wilson and Raymond C. Brickley, who retired, respectively, as secretary and treasurer. They have been replaced by Nelson W. Deyo and Arthur R. Wengel. Harold V. Hedgpeth and George W. Loos were named to the board of directors.

European Collection on Sale. An unusual auction will be held Saturday morning at 10 at Trenton's Contemporary Club (176 West State Street), with the well-known auctioneer, Lester M. Slafoff, in charge. Inspection of the many articles is scheduled for Friday from 1 to 5.

A feature of the occasion will be the sale of a 75-piece cobalt dinner set with burnished gold decorations which was made for Franz Joseph I, a former emperor of Austria. It was to be used in his hunting castle at Mayerling, scene of the still mysterious death of Crown Prince Rudolph and the location of the motion picture in which Charles Boyer starred several years ago.

So complicated were the decorations for the dinner set that the defects had to be anticipated, and in order to meet the delivery date, Frederick Goldscheider (commissioned by the emperor to make the set) turned out two, identical in appearance. It is the second which will be sold at Saturday's auction.

Other offerings from this European collection will include fine porcelains, glass, paintings, silver, bronzes, ivories and Oriental rugs. See page 15 for full details.

Fire Department Praised. Fireholder Edward A. Thorne, whose Nassau Street drug store was endangered by fire in one of the apartments above it, has expressed his thanks to Leland G. Birch, Fire Department Chief, for the skill with which the blaze was extinguished. Mr. Thorne was particularly appreciative of the fact that chemicals were used and that thorough knowledge of this type of fire-fighting prevented water damage. As a result of such efficiency, he wrote Chief Birch, "I suffered no loss through water, smoke or the disruption usually attendant to such an occasion."

"I should like to thank not only you and the men assigned to fight this type of fire," he declared, "but every member of the department for absorbing the kind of training that permits them to control fires with full regard to the conservation." —Continued on Page 7

News of the Theatres

THE PLAYHOUSE
Bend of the River (Thurs.-Sat.), has three drawing cards likely to attract moviegoers: action (much of it lighting of one sort or another), Technicolored western photography and James Stewart. An Oregon-bound wagon train provides the characters and the setting for the story. Julia Adams plays opposite the Princeton alumnus, with Arthur Kennedy and Rock Hudson heading the film's bad men.

Anything Can Happen (Sun.-Tues.) is worthwhile largely because of the acting ability of Jose Ferrer, cast here as an immigrant from Kobiakari in Russian Georgia who finds the U.S. the land of opportunity. The story of his arrival here, cross-country journey, romance with Kim Hunter and eventual success as an orange grove farmer in Southern California is warmly and appealingly told.

With a Song in My Heart (Wed.-Sat.) is more timely than it expected to be, detailing as it does the romance of Jane Froman with the pilot who rescued her from the Portugal plane crash in 1943 (and to whose bedside she flew last week after another crackup in Porto Rico.) Susan Hayward takes the singer's role, but Miss Froman does her own singing. This consistently relieves a somewhat uninspiring, sentimental story.

THE GARDEN
The Cavé of Outlaws (Fri.-Sat.) is the spot where a robber band hides gold stolen from a train. Fifteen years later, the lone survivor of the band returns to the scene, and the hidden gold proceeds to complicate the lives of an entire community. MacDonald Carey and Alexis Smith head the cast in a melodrama that covers up plot weaknesses with a variety of action.

Tales of Hoffman (Mon.-Wed.) is a real treat for music lovers, presenting the Offenbach opera through the medium of the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra conducted by Sir Robert Beecham. In lavish Technicolor, the film is a fine blend of music and the dance, starring Moira Shearer and Leonide Massine.

Red Skies of Montana (Thurs.-Sat.) are caused by forest fires, fought by men who parachute into the burning areas. The numerous spectacular scenes of flames roaring through the woodlands dominate. —Continued on Page 11

tion of property. Princeton is indeed fortunate to have at its call the services of a fire department of such high calibre."

PTA State Announced. Officers will be elected for the next 12 months at the business meeting planned for Tuesday night at 8 by the Township Schools Parent-Teacher Association. The nominating committee consisted of Mrs. Bertha Eisenmann, Mrs. Maurice Mather and Mrs. Marsden Morse.

The slate of officers: Mrs. Jan Rajchman, president; Mrs. Nelson Thompson, first vice-president; Mrs. Max Mesner, secretary; Mrs. Fred Burrell, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Robert Shaw, treasurer.

Officers Elected. Bruce French was named president of the Princeton Historical Society at its last meeting. Other officers are Mrs. Irving Mershon, first vice-president; Horatio Turner, second vice-president; Richard Paynter, 3d, secretary; Dr. Percival Silvester, assistant secretary; Walter Wells, treasurer; Mrs. Harry Farr, 2d and Foster Jenison, members of the executive committee.

Spencer Smith of Lawrenceville spoke on "The History of the 'Old Phillips' Farm from 1690 to Date," describing the stone house located at Lawrenceville and Cold Soil Roads which served as a tavern during the colonial period. It has recently been restored by its owners, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hudler.

The society's next meeting is scheduled for May 19 at Miss Fine's School. Meredith Colket will describe historical archives in Washington, D. C., of interest to residents of New Jersey.

Miscellany. The Red Cross reports a vital need for another $8,000, part of it to aid those suffering from the worst flood in the history of the mid-west. Contributions may be sent to the chapter's Palmer Square headquarters; $45,370 is being sought and $37,469 is at hand.

Sons have been born to Mr. and Mrs. J. Randall Hagadorn, 69 Harrison; Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Osborn, 420-A Butler; daughters to Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Hunt, 146 Mercer; Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Olson, Ridge Road.

Thursday, May 15, Chambers Street Firehouse, sponsored by Princeton Hospital Aid Committee, under the direction of Mrs. Wendell Carlson; assistance in making contributions may be obtained through Mrs. Harry F. Olson (tel. 709).

The ten Princeton gardens to be open to the public on May 1 are those of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Peyton, President and Mrs. Harold Dodd, Dean and Mrs. Hugh Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. David Winans, Mr. and Mrs. John Diehlmann, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lindabury, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Knox, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Fleming, Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. David McAlpin. Proceeds will benefit the Miss Fine's School Building Fund.
Tulips blooming at the White House for Queen Juliana's visit were grown from bulbs supplied by Howe Nurseries of Pennington. The original shipment from Holland was delayed on arrival last fall by the dockyard strike and the Netherlands government asked Howe Nurseries to send a supply of its imported bulbs to Washington so that they might be planted on schedule. When the strike ended, Howe received replacements from the original shipment.

Raymond F. Male of 6 Cedar Lane has been named administrative director of the National Association for Mental Health, a nationwide organization with headquarters in New York whose aim is to help prevent mental illness and aid in the care of those so afflicted. From 1945 to 1952, Mr. Male was director of personnel for the New Jersey Department of Institutions and Agencies.

The League of Women Voters will hold its annual meeting Tuesday at 3:30 at Miss Fine's School, with Mrs. John Whyte in charge of arrangements. Election of officers will be held and plans made for a concentrated program at the local level during the next 12 months. Mrs. Marver Bernstein, league president, will discuss "The Citizens' View of '52," the series of nation-wide forums designed to give voters an opportunity to discuss leading domestic and foreign issues during this election year.

Princeton Chapter No. 1, AVC, will hold a costume dance next Friday, April 25, at Avalon, from 9 to 1. "Highlights of 1952" will be the theme, with prizes to be awarded for the best and most original costumes. Tickets are being sold through Mrs. James Delano and Mrs. Joseph McLean; music will be furnished by the student-formed, "Intensely Vigorous Jazz Band."

SPORTS IN PRINCETON

Heavy Spring Schedule. Over a period of the next month and a half, some of the busiest weekends in Princeton will be scheduled for this community.

Action this Saturday will be relatively quiet on the home front, with a basketball game between Princeton and Lake Carnegie at the principal attraction. But it will build up steadily.

Next weekend, basketball games will be scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, with the championship tennis team going into action in an important inter-sectional match against Rollins College of Florida.

Princeton's basketball season on Lake Carnegie starts on the 3d and runs through the 17th. The Eastern sprint championships, a colorful, day-long affair involving 17 other colleges, will be staged here that day.

Track meets in Palmer Stadium and a basketball-jacrosse double-header at Princeton will follow on the 17th, the highlights of the program. Only the cooperation of the weatherman is required to make the season an outstanding success.

Tiger Crew Premiering. A rainy day will underwrite their first test Saturday when they meet Penn and Columbia for the Childs Cup on the Schuylkill River. The Quakers are expected to be the victors in any way, but able to produce a fast shell for the Henley (mile and five-sixteenths) distance.

However, Dutch Schuch has good reason to believe that Princeton's year may be one of the best in Nassau rowing history. Long-range planning has the Tigers aiming for participation in the International Regatta in Lake Champlain, a goal shared without cox and a pair with cox. Before that, of course, the Orange and Black eight will complete its unit in the trials at Ted Oslus, who pulled the stroke when Princeton led every other Eastern entry at Marietta last June, is back, with three more seniors in the crew.

Ted Oslus, who pulled the stroke when Princeton led every other Eastern entry at Marietta last June, is back, with three more seniors in the crew.

The lone sophomore is Brandon Hart, 19-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Harry C. Hart of Liller Lane, whose ability to swim a mile in 17 minutes has earned him a veteran cox, is the captain.

Sister to the Rescue. It took a five-hit performance by Dave Siler and the Princeton basketball team to bring Princeton's basketball team back from losses to N.Y.U. and Georgetown.

into the visitors' lone run when catcher Walt Matousek faced out a triple that was all the New Yorkers could do with Dave Matousek was stranded on third and in the last five innings, only two men got past the catcher's arm to reach home and drop in the third inning.

Jack Newell's first inning triple scored two and kept the Tigers ahead, but he was out of the contest. It was a 4-1 final.

Bob Unger made his first varsity start Saturday against Amherst, Princeton's first game of the season on the wins and 7-3 victory. The 24 hours earlier over Yale. The sophomore southpaw holds promise but was wild, walking five and giving up three runs before striking out two on and made away in the fourth.

Harry Brightman took over and gave an outstanding demonstration of relief hurling. Quenching the fire, he pitched a complete game, a low before an error put a run aboard and eventually resulted in an unearned run. Brightman yielded only two hits and fanned eight, but the evidence of reaching first base form.

EASY BUDGET PAYMENTS

The amount of Princeton Fuel Oil you use month by month varies with the coldness of the weather. You would like to pay as much as you need in early fall and late spring, but this fuel bill will be the highest in those winter months. If you wish, you can even out monthly payments by using our Budget Payment Plan, which spreads your annual bill evenly over each month of the heating season. There are no charges for this extra service and, in the end, you pay only for the oil you've used at the day of delivery. Many of our customers prefer this way of paying.

that Princeton's baseball team was compiling. Matters had gone from bad (losses to N.Y.U. and Georgetown by two runs) to worse (solid 5-1 and 6-1 drubbings by Lafayette and Rutgers) before the Tigers found the winning touch.

Harry Brightman had run up against a two-hit pitching performance by Fred Kroog of Lafayette and had yielded a three-run homer that salted the game away in the opening round. At New Brunswick last Thursday, Ray Chirurugi made his first start and might have gotten by with good support ahead and a share of clutch hitting.

But Ray wasn't as sharp as he has been in the past and when the defense bogged down badly, a mediocre Scarlet nine walked off with its first victory in five outings. Chirurugi had trouble in his last two or three starts as a junior and his ability to regain winning form is a major cause for concern.

Sister's exhibition against C.C.N.Y. was typical of the capable right-hander's ability to dominate a game. Still showing the need of more work, he was a shade short of control at the start as he gave up four walks in the first four innings, the last one being converted

When Eddie Donovan's outfit staged its first big inning of the season to shove six runs across in the fifth frame, Brightman was credited with the victory. Gus Tryon's double, singles by Brightman, Newell, Joe Golden and Herky Parke, a walk and a fielder's choice did the damage.

feathers: water simply slid off, while the untreated half thirsted it up.
You can use this astonishing liquid as a primer, then paint on top of it with regular oil paint. It makes the paint go farther. Try it in your basement with a coat of paint on top.
Actually, it's designed for outside your house. You know how grey and sodden most asbestos siding looks after a heavy rain? It won't, with this stuff. And that efflorescence that makes your good red brick white-streaked? It will prevent that, too. It will also make water simply gap-over those hair cracks you get in local quarry stone.
You can buy Silicone Masonry Water Repellent in one and up to 50 gallon sizes, and with it you can do a whole average house in an hour. It would be an all-day job with paint. It's inexpensive, too; about half the price of regular paint. Tests run by Princeton Technical Products indicate a life span of about five years.

Another Kind of Protective Coat. All you lucky ones with new cars. Listen to this. "Teet", brushed on your new chrome, will protect it completely from rust, salt, rain, sand, anything you run into except another new car.
Three ounces for 65 cents will cover 24 square feet of space. (Is there that much chrome on the new models?) Tiger Auto, 26 Witherspoon, has it.
You can use it, too, on new costume jewelry, or on any other kind of metal.
The rest of your car will benefit from a vigorous polishing with Las-Stik, a wax-treated polishing cloth with silicone added to it. (Seems to be versatile, this silicone.) Cloth cleans, polishes and gives a protective film to ward off dust.
Car polished, take the cloth inside and rub it on your furniture, too. It can be washed in warm soapsuds. Costs 55 cents.

Cashmere, Wool, Cotton. All three are today's favorites at Clayton's, 17 Palmer Square, West. Cashmere for a short-sleeved pull-over with a curious little double-turtle-neck that's quite unusual. Also a striped collar, or one that's finely ribbed. Colors are coral, yellow, light blue or grey, and the price is $19.95. Cardigans come in a different color range, for $22.50.
If you haven't a cashmere bank account, look at the wool zephyrs for only $7.95. They're almost as soft as cashmere.

Summer cotton's a-comin' in, by the yard. Two are designed with a pattern going down the middle: one a flame red with brilliant hues and black lines that will remind you of Matisse; the other a cloque with a blue, purple and green vine flowering up the middle. Either would make a dashing skirt. These cottons are $1.19 a yard.

Denim by the yard is striped or plain, for shorts, jumpers, or even summer slipcovers and bedspreads. At the other end of the scale is "sheer gold", almost like batiste, with fine gold imprint. It's only $1.19, too.

What really impressed us was the Irish tweed, full of the foggy heather greens and purples of Ireland, for $12.95 a yard and that's no misprint. Clayton's can recommend a fine custom dressmaker to sew you a suit, and the total price will be about half what you would pay for a ready-made, imported Irish tweed. Worth the investment, we think.

ate a minor plot, in which Richard Widmark is the only survivor of one blaze and is suspected by the son of one of the victims of having run out on those who died. Technicolor assures a full share of vivid photography.

THE EUROPA

An Italian and a French picture make up the weekend bill at this New Brunswick theatre. It is showing Verdi's "Il Trovatore," one of the great Italian operas with a cast of opera stars of that country and the orchestra and chorus of the Rome Opera House. Also showing is "Paname," one of the best of recent French films.

Both have English titles. Shows start at 7 and run continuously, with this double feature scheduled to last through Saturday.

THE MCCARTER

The Rochester Philharmonic Orchestra will play here Friday night as one of the major events in the University Concerts series. Jean Casadesu, son of famed pianist Robert and Gaby Casadesu, will be heard as the soloist. Under the direction of Erich Leindorf, the Rochester Philharmonic is one of the nation's best-known orchestras. Appearing with it, Jean Casadesu will provide for his fellow Princetonians an opportunity to hear one of the ablest young musicians of his time.

The program will consist of Mozart's "Linz" symphony No. 36 in G major, K. 425 and Rachmaninoff's Symphonic Dances. The orchestra will accompany Mr. Casadesu in Ravel's Piano Concerto in G major. Tickets while they last at the University Store and Friday night at the box office.

The pupils of Helen Nickerson, who come from Princeton, Hopewell and Pennington, will be seen Saturday night at 8 in a dance concert. A cast of 100 will take part.

Those appearing will range from 3 to 20 years in age, and will offer classic, tap, ball, interpretive, square and ballroom dancing. Mrs. Douglas Terhune will be at the piano, assisted by an ensemble. Tickets (60 cents for children and $1.20 for adults) will be on sale at the theatre.

PROCTER HALL

The Tudor Madrigal Singers from Evanston, Illinois, will give the last of the current series of Procter Hall Concerts sponsored by the Friends of Music. A program of Renaissance and modern a capella music will be offered Sunday at 3:30 at the Graduate College; admission is free and no tickets are required.

One of the most interesting parts of the program will be devoted to a cycle of contemporary madrigals based on Shakespearean texts and dedicated to them by the composer, Bryan Dority. Earlier works will include English and Italian madrigals and French chansons, while the afternoon will conclude with a number of modern arrangements of English folk songs.

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

Pennington & Schurman

This offering should appeal to discriminating buyers seeking one of the large rooms: its comfortable appointments and its possibility of producing extra income. Located on a landscaped lot, it is this single dwelling. Its excellent floor plan comprises a reception hall, modern kitchen, living room and dining room. The second floor consists of 2 bedrooms and bath. The third floor has been converted into a modern attractive apartment with new bath, kitchen, living room and bedroom. This apartment has not been rented and is not under rent control. It will be worth your while to look into this attractive offering at $14,500.

It is a pleasure to offer this delightful Cape Cod at 415 Bard Street, Pennington. Two bedrooms, tile bath, living room, dining room, kitchen on first floor and 2 bedrooms and bath on the second floor. Every modern convenience. Beautifully landscaped lot, good possession and a fine neighborhood makes this a real buy.

We are pleased to offer this modern, brand new ranch house in Hillwood Lakes at a low price of $18,000. Tile baths, ultra modern kitchen, baseboard radiation, large lot and easy financing makes this a good opportunity for you.

Another delightful offering is this single, practically new, modified Cape Cod with breezeway and attached garage. It has a living room, modern kitchen, dining room, 2 bedrooms and bath on first floor, with 2 rooms and bath on second floor. This floor plan offers much possession cannot give before June.

Ewing Township. One of the few remaining river front properties available at this time. This delightful old house with plenty of livable space at a price ridiculous to live on today's market located on the corner of Wilburina Road with all the beauties of the Delaware River and closeness to Trenton should prove to you the good value of this fine offering.
